

Important Notice – Scholavar Website

Scholavar is a platform dedicated solely to community building, discovery, personalized learning, education and upskilling in the pharmaceutical and life sciences industry. We do not provide, guarantee, or make any promises to students or professionals regarding job assurances or internships as part of our services unless explicitly mentioned in the programs mentioned on our website. We never ask for payments to provide internships or jobs under any circumstances in any case.

It has come to our attention that certain individuals and groups have been fraudulently using the Scholavar brand name to offer jobs, internships, or conduct courses with false promises. These individuals are in no way connected to Scholavar, nor do they represent our company or partners. Any misuse of the Scholavar name for fraudulent purposes will lead to legal action and litigation against those involved.

For your protection, please note:

- The only legitimate communications from Scholavar will come from the official sources displayed on our website.
- If you are approached with offers or requests not originating from our official channels, please disregard them.
- Any complaints or information regarding such fraudulent activities should be emailed to contact@scholavar.com.

For official inquiries, contact:

- WhatsApp: +91 9900939036
- Official Email: contact@scholavar.com

We urge all students, professionals, and partners to verify the source of any communication and to avoid engagement with unauthorized or suspicious entities. Thank you for your cooperation.